CAPACITY BUILDING PROGRAM ON ONLINE/OFFLINE COURSE DEVELOPMENT

In August 2024, a Capacity Building Program was conducted on Online/Offline Course Development Preparation. The program aimed to enhance skills in course design and delivery. As an outcome, the department developed two structured templates for Online and Offline courses, ensuring standardized and effective learning experiences for future educational programs. The program provided hands-on training, enabling participants to create engaging and structured course content. Experts guided faculty on best practices, including curriculum design, assessment methods, and interactive learning strategies. The newly developed templates will serve as a framework for future courses, ensuring consistency, accessibility, and quality in both online and offline learning environments.
